

Mati Feng Shui

Love in the Bedroom

Are you looking to strengthen your current relationship?

or

Are you looking to call in a new partner?

Start by looking at the design and flow of your bedroom.

Where is your bed placed?

Are you in command?

Meaning, can see the door to your bedroom while lying in bed, without being directly in line with the door?

Are you allowing space for a partner in the bedroom?

Here are some additional ways to bring more love into your life...

Clear Clutter

Too much clutter can block you from attracting love into your life.

It's very important to get rid of anything from past relationships if you would like to invite in a new partner!

Bed

Locate the bed so that both partners can easily get in and out of bed.

Energetically, you want to create room for your partner to feel comfortable and come into your space.

Make sure the number of pillows is an even number.

Nightstands

Have two nightstands.

Either a matching set or similar in size and each with a lamp.

Even if you are only using one, having a second nightstand shows the universe that you are open to a partner.

To further activate love in your life schedule an in-depth personalized consultation.

www.matifengshui.com
303.246.7848